

ENDGAME

by Samuel Beckett

Main Street Theatre

Little Mountain Gallery, 26th and Main

Apr. 18-28

$15 tickets.thecultch.com or 604.251.1363

mainstreettheatre.ca

Main Street Theatre presents Samuel Beckett's timeless avant-garde classic Endgame as part of Vancouver's 2012 Tremors Festival.

“Nothing is funnier than unhappiness.”

Increasingly well known for their intimate and innovative staging of contemporary classics, Main Street Theatre next tackles Samuel Beckett's 1957 theatrical masterpiece Endgame.

The New York Times calls Endgame one of Beckett's most “tough, lucid, achingly gallant, post-apocalyptic tragicomedies.” Set in a grey room with two black windows, the play centres on the interdependent relationship between Hamm, the blind and dying master confined to a chair on wheels, and his slave, Clov. Also present are Hamm's aging, legless parents, Nag and Nell. They live in trash bins and are kept alive with biscuits in order to provide an audience for Hamm's stories.

Stephen Malloy directs Ryan Beil, Sasa Brown, Josh Drebit, and Daryl King in Endgame.

Main Street Theatre presents ENDGAME by Samuel Beckett | Presented as part of Vancouver's 2012 Tremors Festival | Directed and Designed by Stephen Malloy | April 19-28, 7:00 PM | Preview - April 18; Late Show - April 27, 10 PM | Little Mountain Gallery, 26th and Main, Vancouver, CANADA. | Tickets: Individual Tickets from $15 + s/c | Tremors Festival passes also available - $40 + s/c | Contact the Cultch box office at tickets.thecultch.com or 604.251.1363.

Main Street Theatre website and Endgame photos: mainstreettheatre.ca